

Sweet Lover

Can't be the keeper of your heart
Can't be the rainbow in your dreams
Can't be the ground on which you walk
A speaker of noble thoughts

I'm not big enough to carry you
Every time the cold breaks through When winter chills make you stand still
And paralyse you at will

Sweet lover ... lover
Sweet lover ... lover

You ask me to scale mountains too tall
I've climbed so high but I always fall
Come up short no matter what I try Found wanting just can't reach that high

Sweet lover ... lover
Sweet lover ... lover

I can't be the keeper of your heart
Not by strength of will can I hit that mark
But still I'll try one more time
And maybe fate on our love will shine

Sweet lover ... lover
Sweet lover ... lover

Sweet Lover

*This was not my first choice for a title track
I never considered it until a friend heard it and said
'this is the one'*

So here it is in its simplicity

With all its complexity and unfulfilled promises

But love nevertheless

*All things are impermanent
Even love*

*But in letting go
It always comes back to us*

How to Play

C, G, B \flat , F

Am F C

A butterfly specimen I photographed at the Daintree Entomological Museum, Northern Queensland,